MARINE

The Canadian-American S. S. Moans ought to have arrived yesterday morning. Cable advices have been received by T. H. Davies & Co., Ltd., the local agents, to the effect that the vessel left Suva 24 hours Tate. She had been loading sugar. She should therefore have reached Honolulu yesterday morning, but may have struck heavy weather. She will, it is thought, be sure to arrive this morning. The vessel has accommodations for thirty second-class passengers from Honolulu, ample accommodations for first-class passengers, but no room for steerage passengers. She will be dispatched as soon as possible after her arrival for Victoria and Vancouver,

With the largest shipment of sugar that Peru has ever sent to Japan, the British S. S. Glenfarg came into the harbor yesterday morning to take on 700 tons of coal, to enable her to com-plete her voyage from Peru and Chile ports to the Orient. The vessel has as cargo 2100 tons of sugar and 2400 tons of nitrate of soda. Of the latter amount 200 tons are to be used in the manufacture of explosives, while the remainder is to serve for fertilizing purposes. Glenfarg is under charter to the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, and is one of that company's vesels in the South American trade. The vessel took two previous cargoes of Peru sugar to Japan. but none were so extensive as the present one. The company is experi-menting to ascertain whether it is cheaper to import sugar from Peru than Java and Formosa.

The vessel has eight Chinese in the cabin and 80 steerage passengers, of both Japanese and Chinese nationality. The vessel is to return to South Amerlea after completing her run to Japa-nese and Chinese ports. She called at Honolulu in 1898 during the Spanish War. The Pacific Mail S. S. The Glenfarg will get away this afternoon for the Orient. She was off port at 10 p. m. Wednesday.

BAD ACCIDENT ON CORONADO.

The 'arkentine Coronado returned unexpectedly yesterday afternoon from sea. She had left here December 31 with a partial load of sugar. An ac-cident to Mate Chris Pederson necessitated her return. On January 4, when the vessel was about 700 miles from Honolulu, the boom of the mainmast wung suddenly as she was The guy of the boom caught Pederson under the chin and threw him violently against the wheel. He sustained fracture of both of his legs. Captain Potter had been very ill with stomach trouble, but the plucky master at once temporarily set the fractures. Had it not have been for the serious injury to the mate, Captain Potter would have kept on to San Francisco.

Pederson was transferred here to the hospital and Captain Potter also left the vessel, as he was too ill to resume the voyage. She will go out this forenoon for San Francisco, under command of Captain Lund, who was formerly mate of the schooner Aloha.

OIL VESSELS DEPART.

News from Kihei by the steamer Claudine yesterday told of the departure of the S. S. Lansing, with the barkentine Fullerton in tow, for Port Harford on the evening of January 6. The Lansing left Honolulu on January 5 after discharging her cargo of oil and arrived at Kihei the following day. The barkentine parted her moor ings during a heavy blow on Saturday and swung dangerously close in shore. Her anchors held her safe, however.

ARRIVED AT HILO.

The bark Annie Johnson arrived at and Mrs. Hilo on January 8, seventeen days from Kwal, Miss A. Lee Kwal, Miss San Francisco, with general cargo. The Lee Kwal, T. Shibayama, J. M. The steamer Mauna Loa will depart at noon today for Maui and Hawali ports, and at 5 p. m. the steamer Claudine will depart for Maul ports, Laupahoehoe and Hilo. It is expected that both vessels will take some excursionists who may go to view the latest sutbreak of Mauna Loa.

LIKELIKE AFTER MORE CATTLE.

The steamer Likelike arrived yesterday afternoon from Kawaihae, Hilo and Hamakua perts. She brought fifty head of cattle and twenty bags of coffee. The vessel departed for Kawaihae shortly before 6 o'clock last night, after another phipment of cattle for lulu. She is due here tomorrow morn-

Captain Naopala of the steamer says that his vessel was 25 miles off Kawalhae on Wednesday night when the volcano of Mauna Loa broke out. says that he was fifty miles at least from the scene of the outbreak, but the fire was plainly visib! He believes that the reflect of may be visible from Honolulu on a clear night. Naopala expressed the opinion that the outbreak was somewhere between Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa, but he didn't know in what particular locality,

NEW AGENT AT LOS ANGELES Secretary Wood reported having comoleted arrangements for the Los Augo les ugency of the committee being taken over by Loyd Childs, who will establish the agency in the Chamber of Commerce building, where arrange ments are under way for the placing of a very attractive exhibit. One especial feature of the promotion work planned for Los Angeles will be the giving of illustrated lectures daily in the big auditorium in the Chamber of Commerce building, which will be commenced as soon as the films for the moving pictures can be obtained from the Edison company. The subscribers had agreed to donate until January 1, but as it will be impossible to secure any legislative appropriation before July 1, it is necessary that the subscriptions should be extended until that date. In view of the difficulty he was experiencing in securing these renewals, he advised the committee to go slow.

SECRETARY'S MONTHLY RE-PORT.

The report presented by the secretary, covering his work of the past month and outlining some of the projects to be begun, was read, as follows:

"The cablegrams from Secretary Wiggins, confirming the Associated Press despatch that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion would sail from San Pedro February 23, one of the best pieces of news the Promotion Committee has received in some time. The excursion party will not only thoroughly represent the commer-cial interests of Los Angeles, but many eastern people, who are spending the winter months in Southern California, will doubtless take advantage of the trip via the Sunshine Route to Hawaii. Several newspaper correspondents will accompany the party, which will also the beginning of a series of winter excursions to Hawaii from the mainand, and I believe will tend to about the early establishment of regular steamship communication between Honolulu and some Southern California

That flow started a thousand feet or more from the top and flowed toward Kalaeha dividing before reaching that point and one of the tongues of lava turning toward Hilo. It was mostly of an a-a character and moved slowly for the mass was a wide one.

In the 1903 outbreak the activity was confined to the crater of Mokuaweoweo as it was in the outbreak of 1896. Several parties from Hilo visited the crater and some good photographs were secured. Even at that time the glow on the Kau side was so bright that the residents of the district were positive there was an outbreak in Kona district. Messengers were sent up and en their return all sorts of extravagant statements were made.

It is evident that the weak spot on the side of the mountain is in the region of the Dewey crater, which, by the way was christened by the Hawaii Herald, the name being given in honor of the man who had a short time before had fireworks in Manila. The first outbreak at that particular spot occurred in 1852, the next in 1855, one in 1880 and another in 1899.

During the '99 flow residents of Hilo would gather on the bridges crossing the Walluku river at Hilo and watch the fountains playing, but in the later flow they could see only the glow which at times was bright enough to appear like active fountains. The brightest and best display of that outbreak was the night the fire fell. It came up so as to almost convince the public that there, had been an auxiliary crater called on for supplies. The next night all was

A large number of sampans were more or less damaged by the storm. Last Tuesday Inspector Baron and half a hundred Japanese worked in the water all night trying to move the sampans to a place of safety. The high sea had knocked them off the racks and they were ramming and jamming each other indiscriminately.

The sampans had to be guided through a small outlet in the pier bounding their reservation and then taken into the quieter water of the Bishop slip.

A GREAT STORM ON THIS ISLAND

Extremely heavy rain fell in the north and west of this island between midnight and daylight yesterday morning. Washouts were caused on the Oahu railway, which delayed the morning train from Kahuku about six hours

Near Pearl City there was a cloudburst as a result of which a landslide stalled trains on the Wahiawa branch. Bridges were carried away on the Honolulu plantation tracks.
